STAGECOACH (WEST BRIDGFORD) - Preparing to perform in 'Chitty Chitty Bang Bang'

Six young students from Stagecoach West Bridgford were thrilled to bits to get through the gruelling audition process recently, to achieve parts in 'Chitty Chitty Bang Bang' which comes to the Theatre Royal, Nottingham in February.

Local kids Kaydon Brookes (10), Tarun Mistry (10) and Harry Robinson (8) from Stagecoach's Saturday morning school, and Raigan Stephenson (10), Emily Martin (9) and Leonie Lewis (11) from the Saturday afternoon school are all very excited to have been chosen to perform in such a prestigious production and are already working on their lines and learning the songs.

Principal Ginny Hartman says; 'Of course we are delighted and proud to have six of our talented students appearing at the Theatre Royal in February and we will make sure that they are word perfect before they begin rehearsing with the Company. The Stagecoach Agency, which is the largest children's agency in the UK, is the only organisation that the Chitty Chitty Bang Bang company contacted when they were looking for children for their tour.'
